

A Question and A Challenge

“If you will not take to the streets now to demand that the Trump/Pence regime must go, what will you do if Trump is re-elected (perhaps through the electoral college, even if he again loses the popular vote)?”

“And what will you do if Trump loses the election (even by the electoral college count) but then refuses to recognize the results and insists he is still President?!”

From “Individualism, BEB and the Illusion of ‘Painless Progress’”
by Bob Avakian

We are sincerely asking these questions of everyone. What do you think? And what do you think we can do about the fact that millions are not taking to the streets, now?