Question & Answer

“You cannot break all the chains, except one. You cannot say you want to be free of exploitation and oppression, except you want to keep the oppression of women by men. You can’t say you want to liberate humanity yet keep one half of the people enslaved to the other half. The oppression of women is completely bound up with the division of society into masters and slaves, exploiters and exploited, and the ending of all such conditions is impossible without the complete liberation of women. All this is why women have a tremendous role to play not only in making revolution but in making sure there is all-the-way revolution. The fury of women can and must be fully unleashed as a mighty force for proletarian revolution.

—Bob Avakian

Chairman of the Revolutionary Communist Party, USA

“In many ways, and particularly for men, the woman question and whether you seek to completely abolish or to preserve the existing property and social relations and corresponding ideology that enslave women (or maybe “just a little bit” of them) is a touchstone question among the oppressed themselves. It is a dividing line between “wanting in” and really “wanting out”: between fighting to end all oppression and exploitation—and the very division of society into classes—and seeking in the final analysis to get your part in this.

—Bob Avakian

SUNSARA TAYLOR is a writer for Revolution newspaper, a host of WBAI's Equal Time for Free Thought, and sits on the Advisory Board of World Can't Wait. She has written on the rise of theocracy, wars and repression in the U.S., led in building resistance to these crimes, and contributed to the movement for revolution to put an end to all this. She has traveled to the funeral of Dr. George Tiller, led protests in support of abortion outside Obama's commencement speech at Notre Dame, spoken and debated on campuses nationwide on Away With All Gods! Unchaining the Mind and Radically Changing the World by Bob Avakian at New York University, UCLA's Center for the Study of Religion, and at the 2009 Atheist Alliance International Convention in Los Angeles. She takes as her foundation the new synthesis on revolution and communism developed by Bob Avakian.
